CHICAGO, July 2.-This afternoon, at Washington Park, Joe Patchen repeated his performance at that track in last August when he humbled the pride of John R. Gentry. To-day's match, their first meeting in 1896, was a two-heat affair, and Patchen won straight heats decisively. That the public likes two heats as well as three, if not better, was attested by the attendance. Six thousand people saw the racea much better crowd than was expected. Both the pacers were enthusiastically received on their appearance for the first heat. Gentry looks larger than he did last year. Patchen, although it was his first race of the season, confirmed in his appearance Curry's declaration that the big black

Joe Patchen was at a slight disadvantage in the start for the first heat, being a neck behind, although having the pole and scarcely on his stride. But the big fellow was on even terms at once and really there not seem to have a slight advantage on the bay. Gentry's supporters lost heart when he failed promptly to imporve his advantage in the send-off of the first heat, With his supposed superior condition, as shown by his mile in 2:031/2 last week, Gentry should, they argued, get away from Patchen at the very outset. But he did not. All the way to the far turn Patchen led the most of the time by a length. There Andrews sent his charge along and the crowd became enthusiastic in anticipation of a hot finish. They were disappointed only in part. Before they were well straightened out for home Gentry was on even terms. The big black drew slightly away, but, nearing the eigth pole. Andrews began to drive, and in a few strides Gentry was head and head with the big fellow, and the crowd shouted Gentry wins, but suddenly the bay horse faltered and then went into the air. Patchen going under the wire an

The conditions were pretty favorable for good time, the track being very fast and the weather hot, but a brisk breeze up the stretch had some effect. The crowd anticlpated that Gentry would not break in the next heat and watched them start easily. The black at once set out the pace and the majority of old horsemen present, observing the appearance of each horse in action, concluded long before this heat was finished that the race was over. Patchen traveled the entire mile with machinelike precision and ease. A great part of the time his lead amounted almost to two lengths. Andrews closed a little in the stretch, but by the time he was within a length of his gliding opponent Gentry once more faltered and broke and everything was over, Patchen winning easily. Time by quarters: :324, 1:02%, 1:35%, 2:06%. Had there been betting Gentry would have been favorite before the first heat. There is no doubt that Patchen is in great fettie and a wonderful horse. After the race Curry said that if the big black did not go wrong this year he would beat Robert J.'s mark due to erect one that posterity may know the reverence felt for the great leader of a cause that failed. It is fitting that he should rest here in Virginia-that greatest of all States, the battle-scarred producer of warriors and statesmen; fitting that he should rest here among her immortals. But for her generosity in ceding her vast territory to the Union Kentucky would have still been hers, and he would have been born her son. Many Presidents, statesmen, soldiers lie in Virgina soil—from Washington to the present time-none greater than Davis, but more fortunate. Fame has no trumpet for failure. The world hears not the voice of the vanquished. Yet history might teach us strange things of men who failed and causes that are lost." Mr. Lee followed with a review of Da-vis's career and the issues which brought about secession, and continued: "I cannot hold him wise who would willingly wound the patriotism of any citizen of the Repub-lic. To brand such men as Albert Sydney Johnston, Stonewall Jackson, Robert E. Lee or Jefferson Davis as traitors is not TRIBUTE TO THE MEN HISTORY to stain the whiteness of their lives, but rather to spoll the word for any useful purpose; to make a traitor a title which Hampden or Washington had borne, had the fortunes of war gone against them. "Jefferson Davis," he added, "stood the test of true greatness. He was the greatest to those who knew him best. He was opposed to disunion, and did his utmost to prevent the step. At the conference called by Governor Pettus, of Mississippi, of the representative of Congress from the State, in 1860. Mr. Davis declared himself opposed to secession as long as the hope of a peaceful remedy remained. As President, Mr. Davis may have made mistakes. He was a constitutional ruler, not a revolutionary chief. He could not work miracles." In closing, the orator said: "In calmer years, when the last ember of sectional feeling has burned out, and the last word of love has gently bound the hearts of all Americans together, fathers will bring their little children to this spot and tell them the story of a pure, great man, who suffered for his people, and for the right as they understood, and how for this they sea it shall behold no man more kingly. A huge moving van was in the rear, filled with strikers, and with it a small wagon laden with empty good order and conservative utterances. beer bottles. The police suspected that the bottles were intended as missiles, and compelled the driver of the wagon to turn back. At Willson avenue and Euclid a railroad train blocked the way, and an effort was made to drive the van through the guard of police. The officers dragged to the ground the driver, Fred W. Hearn, a moving contractor, and the man on the seat beside him, W. J. O'Neil, a paving contractor. These men resisted, and the police used. their clubs on them with such effect that their heads were soon masses of cuts. O'Neil's ankle was broken. The strikers in the van jumped out, and the police charged the crowd, using their clubs on all the heads within reach. Frank Coopenhecker, a machinist returning from work, and not a striker, was caught in the crowd and severely clubbed on the head. Hearne was arrested and locked up. Rettger was sent to a hospital, where he died in a few minutes. He was a single man, twenty-five years old, boarding on Hoad ley street and was a brother of pitcher Rettger, of the Milwaukee baseball club. Patrolman Gibbons heard the shot and seized young Saunders and hurried him into Notre Dame, Ind., as afternate. the office of the Bishop-Babcock Company. In a wonderfully short space of time a furious crowd which packed the streets as far as the eye could reach, surged against the front of the office, demanding that Saunders be given up. Some one brought a rope and the cry to lynch him was raised. A few began to pry at the windows of the office, when patrolman Gibbons, who was once a union workman, addressed the mob and partly quieted it. Two patrol wagon loads of police arrived and a guard was posted in front of th Long before this, Mayor McKisson, Po were gathered for consultation in the City Hall. Word of the critical condition of affairs was telephoned to them from the Bishop-Babcock office and a request made for militia. The Mayor responded by ordering the Cleveland City Guards and Company F to the scene of the riot. The Guards arrived first, just as the mob was preparing for another effort to capture Saunders. As the soldiers came down the street the mob shrieked and howled and the Guards were compelled to open a way for themselves with leveled bayonets. Several men and boys were wounded slightly by the soldiers. The Guards formed in front of the office and just then Company F was seen alighting from street cars a Major Liebch halted his men, drew his revolver and declared that on the slightest attempt at violence he would give the command to fire. After that the noise ceased and the crowd scattered, the company returning to quarters. The Mayor will cause a proclamation declaring the riot act to be in force to be posted in the neighborhood of the Brown works to-morrow morning. Quiet at Berea.

To Be Prosecuted for Violating the Civil-Service Law,

WASHINGTON, July 2 .- The recent summary removal of Postmaster Samuel A. Laning, at Bridgeport, N. J., for violating the federal civil-service laws, will be followed immediately by criminal prosecution. The removal was the outcome of a joint investigation made by the Postoffice Department and the Civil-service Commission. The charges were filed with the commission about two months ago. It was alleged that Postmaster Laning gave secret information in a civil-service examination to a competitor for a place in the postoffice, Francisco Board of Health is preparing to and that in response to his solicitation several letter carriers made contributions in the postoffice building for political pur-poses during the campaign of 1894-95. The commission immediately instituted an inquiry, which was supplemented by an investigation by a postoffice inspector. The reports have resulted in the postmaster's peremptory dismissal, and are now with Attorney-general Harmon, prosecution

FEARS FOR ASTRONOMERS.

No News from the Party That Went to Japan Recently.

OTTUMWA, Ia., July 2.-Grave fears are entertained in this city for the safety of the party of astronomers who went to Japan from California to observe the total eclipse of the sun Aug. 9. Mrs. E. B. Vogel, of Ottumwa, a sister of Prof. Charles Burkhalter, of Cabot University, at Oakland, leader of the party, fears that the recent earthquake in Japan may have done them injury, as nothing has been heard from the party since then. Others are Professor Schaeberle of Lick Observatory, Dr. G. E. Shuey of East Oakland, Louis C. Masten and a young Japanese nobleman.
